DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JAN. 16, 1834.

BANK OF THE UNITED STATES.—The enemies of this institution, among innumerable other charges, have accused it of creating the present pressure in the money market, and declare that it is produced by the reduction of her discounts, and denounce that reduction as unnecessary and oppressive. They contend that, inasmuch as the bank had ten millions of dollars of specie, and as the deposits only a little exceeded nine millions, she should have paid those deposits out of her speeie, and not have called upon her customers for a reduction of their loans.

Mr. Binney, in his late speech, made a very conclusive reply to such an argument. He might, however, have gone a little further, and shown that such a course would have been not only unwise, but dishonest.

The Bank, in strict conformity with the provisions and design of her charter, has issued notes of various denominations, from five dollars to one thousand—in these notes the Bank promises to pay to the bearer, upon demand, the amount of said note.—The Bank has also lent large sums of money to various persons, merchants, manufacturers, &c., and taken their notes at sixty days, ninety days, six months, &c.—These two operations of issuing notes and lending money, create two great classes of society with whom the Bank has connection—her creditors and debtors. There is another considerable class—individual depositors—persons who have deposited their funds in the Bank, believing that the Bank would honestly repay the amount, when demanded.

We now ask our readers to bear these things in mind, while we remind them that, in July or August last, an agent (and "such an agent too," the "serpent of Kentucky") was despatched from Washington to make arrangements for the removal of the deposits. This became a matter of notoriety—the Bank became sufficiently alarmed to think about preparing for this important change in her situation—the withdrawal of nine millions of dollars, in a short time, is a very serious operation, and one which would require preparation.

Two modes of paying these deposits offered themselves—the first the Bank adopted—she called upon those persons who had borrowed money, to pay up a portion of their debts, say five or ten per cent. of the principal every sixty or ninety days, and in this way she was enabled to pay the Government deposits, without weakening the security of those who, trusting to the honesty of the Bank, had taken its notes or deposited their funds in her vaults. It is true this has produced some distress—but it is not her fault—she had only required one tenth or one twentieth of what her debtors promised to pay.

Suppose, now, on the other hand, that the Directors had adopted the course which their enemies say they should have adopted—suppose they had paid out the whole nine millions of public deposits in specie, and thus reduced their specie from a little over ten millions to a little over one million, and this divided between the mother bank and her twenty odd branches; what would be the probable result? Would this rolling out of nine millions of dollars in specie from her vaults excite no alarm? Would not the holders of the nineteen millions of her bank notes and the owners of ten millions of private deposits try to secure themselves against the madness or wickedness of an institution which thus endeavored to favor her few borrowers at the expense of the immense number, who, relying on the integrity and prudence of the directors, had received the notes, or placed their funds in the vaults of the Bank? If these holders of notes and deposits possessed one particle of common sense, they would at once make an effort to secure the remaining million of specie, which would soon be exhausted, and then the remaining creditors, to the amount of twenty eight millions would be compelled to wait until the bank would at last do what she should have done at first—call upon those who owed her to pay up.—This difference would, however, exist—the alarm would be ten fold greater, and the pressure twenty fold greater, than it now is.

That this run upon the bank would take place, is manifest from the simple fact, that the withdrawal of the public deposits, with all the precaution of the Bank, induced a withdrawal of three and a half millions of private deposits between the 1st of August, 1833, and 1st of January, 1834, and a reduction of the bank notes in circulation, exceeding four millions in the same time.

Suppose now that the bank had pursued this course, what would now be the cry of its enemies. The clamor would be that the bank, for the purpose of favoring a few pet borrowers, had jeoparded the interests of the immense number of persons over every section of the country, who held her notes, or who had trusted their funds in her vaults. "Oh, yes," Colonel Benton would say, "the bank lent its money to printers, &c. to buy votes, and when difficulties came, the directors dared not call upon them to pay even five per cent. of what they had promised to pay. The directors preferred to empty her vaults, at the risk of their creditors, rather than call upon their debtors for a small portion—one twentieth part—of what they owed.

THE POST OFFICE.—We observe that the Post Master General, after giving a list of the moneys "loaned of" the different Banks, to the amount of four hundred thousand dollars, says—"the above comprizes all the moneys borrowed on interest"—Perhaps it might be worth Mr. Clay's while to draw another of Mr. Barry's eye teeth, and ascertain whether he had borrowed any, and how much, without interest.

When Mr. Taney lent the pet Banks upwards of two millions of dollars, in "contingent drafts," without authority, and without interest, those Banks may have returned the compliment.

From Niles' Weekly Register.

All doubts are now removed concerning the operation of the tariff law of 1833, as to the duty on cotton goods, so far as the operation depends on treasury instructions! There was an erroneous reading of Mr. Secretary McLane's instructions of the 20th April, 1833, [see Register, vol. 44, p. 159]—and it seems to have been a strange mistake! for persons most interested believed that the minimum principle, as to such goods, would not cease to have effect on the amount of the duty payable until after the 30th of June, 1842, and such, we do know, was the INTENTION of the law; but we understand that orders were received at the custom house in Baltimore, on Wednesday last, from the comptroller of the treasury, which do away the minimums, and place the amount of duties to be collected on cottons at a simple ad valorem duty of 25 per cent. on the cost—which, subjected to the first reduction, renders the present duty of 24 1-2 per cent. on the foreign price, or actual cost, of such goods. By the act of 1832, plain cottons were valued at 30 cents, and printed, &c., at 35 cents the square yard, for a duty of 25 per cent. on such legal, or assumed value. The duty, then, on a square yard of plain cloth, (and the same rule applies to the printed, &c.) such as is worth, or now sells for eight cents in our market, was 7 1-2 cents, the square yard, and it was expected that one tenth only of the excess of real duty over one of 20 per cent. on the real cost, would be deducted, at stated periods, until 1842, when the duty would be a simple ad valorem, one of 20 per cent.—under this instruction, the duty on a square yard of cloth, costing 8 cents in a foreign country, will be only 1 cent, 8 mills, or 24 1-2 per cent. on the 8 cents cost, no matter what may be the charges, or additional cost of importing it! This is worse than it was designed to be AFTER June, 1842—a home valuation is provided for in the act, and the duties thereafter will be payable in "ready money," instead of receiving the credit now allowed, which is 3 and 6 months. Thus—

100 dollars cost, in a foreign country, is	$100
Say, exchange, freight, and other charges, 20 per cent.	20
Actual cost in the United States,	120

And the duty, at 20 per cent. after 1842, is 25 dollars.

And now the same lot of goods which pay $24 50 duty, obtain an average credit of 4 1-2 months on such duty, and so, as compared with a "ready money" transaction, only pay $23 95—55 cents being the interest that is to be saved on the amount of the duty, as payable under this construction of the law! Surely, no one who supported the bill of 1833, supposed that the duty on cottons would be practically higher in 1842 than in 1834!

We have not time, or room, to take up this subject just now; and it may also be useless to do more than state the facts—for congress, and of all parties, will, surely, instruct the secretary or comptroller of the treasury, under such an awful and unexpected state of things. But if they do not, or cannot, render a just interpretation of their own law, our cotton manufactures are prostrated, and forever. We say forever—for after they shall have twice ruined all who depended upon them, who will undertake a re-establishment of them? Embarrassed as they are at present, by the low price of their goods and the derangement of the currency most of the manufactuers are hard pushed to meet their indispensable expenses, and may have been compelled to discharge portions of their working people; but, with such a prospect ahead, all who are dependent on the proceeds of their business, must shut down the gates of their mills as speedily as possible; for a flood of foreign goods will swiftly arrive and be sacrificed, if necessary, to secure the future command of our market at such prices as foreigners may be pleased to demand.

The capital now employed in the cotton manufacture, (direct,) is considerably more than 50 millions, and the persons directly employed about 150,000—besides the hand loom weaving, which, we think, employs 12 or 15,000 men in or near Baltimore, only! The whole number of persons subsisted by the manufactures of cotton in the U. States are more than three hundred thousand! What are these people, thus suddenly deprived of labor, to do? IT IS A FEARFUL QUESTION! The markets which they furnished to the farmers, and business afforded to mechanics, are all deranged—and through how many other pursuits will be an annual loss of, at least, fifteen millions, in mere wages, directly paid, extend? What the effect of the bankruptcies that must follow?

The act of 1833 was not intended to produce the calamity that is upon us! No—no; no one designed it! But what is the remedy? We have heard that one high in authority, and in influence over this question, has said—that the minimum principle should be destroyed on the 1st January, 1834—instead of the 20th June 1842, as provided for in the law! It seemed bad enough after 1842 to give up that principle—but some hoped that, by improved machinery, reduced wages, or some other means, in altered circumstances, they might gradually economize their business so that a 20 per cent. duty, on a home valuation, and payable in cash, would, perhaps, enable them to get along —to live themselves, and LET THEIR PEOPLE LIVE. But this change has come upon all like a blast of lightning—and all interested are dismayed. THE GENERAL EFFECT WILL FOLLOW!

And how will it be with the cotton grower? Who are always first in the market to purchase? Who give the leading prices? The home manufacturers, and their consumption is about 250,000 bales! With the command of the market for their products, will not the British manufacturers also command the price of the material used by them? Just as certainly as that the Mississippi rolls his waters to the sea!

The following is a copy of the pro forma statement which the collectors of the customs have received from the comptroller:

The subjoined statement shows the amount of the reduction:

Invoice value 12,722 rupees, equal to $6,361—25 per cent	$1,590 25
Same amount 6,351—20 "	$1,272 20
Excess	318 05
1-10th	31 80
Amount of duty on above	$1,558 45
Amount of duty prior to the 1st Jan. 1834, on the above 62,160 square yds. at 35 cents or $21,756 at 25 per cent.	5,439 00
Amount of reduction of duty by the present tariff,	$3,880 55

The manner of presenting this statement is, in our opinion, highly objectionable, being ad captandum; true in its figures, perhaps, but erroneous as to the impression which it seems intended to make upon ignorant or unthinking minds.

It is impossible to suppose that Congress will not set this matter to rights. It is a palpable error committed at the treasury.

Correspondence of the Commercial Advertiser.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8, 1834.

Some light begins to be shed upon the affairs of the Post Office Department. You will see by the Post Master General's Report to the Senate, yesterday, that he admits he has borrowed about three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, for which interest is paid; and that the Department owes about fifty thousand dollars more, which last sum I suppose to be the over drafts on the deputy Post Masters;—though I may be mistaken in this, as I have not seen the printed document. What amount is due to the contractors, we do not yet know. When the whole is laid open and exposed, the prediction that the deficit is near a million of dollars, won't be far from the truth. What a prosperous condition our finances are in! No more alarm about a surplus revenue—no quarreling how to divide it! To make all this matter certain, Mr. Secretary Taney, in his annual report on the finances, tells Congress that, in two years, there won't be revenue enough to meet the wants of the government; and that the tariff will have to be remoddeled, and duties levied on articles which are now duty free! And this he says when, in his report on the "deposits," he assures, for fact, that the Bank of the United States would not be able to repay the government at the end of the charter in 1836, and gives that as a "reason" for "removing" them! So that, according to his own showing, if none but the present sources of revenue are relied on, the Treasury will be bankrupt on the 1st of January, 1836—and how it can then happen that the Bank of the United States won't be able to pay over the moneys belonging to the Treasury, I leave to be solved by the financial talent of your "commercial representative."

Mr. Binney has proceeded in his argument to day, but has not finished. He has been more powerful than yesterday. He has used up the Secretary, and yet he has not done with him. His language is chaste and courteous. He abuses no one; but awards credit to whom credit is due, and where it is not, is silent. He deals in argument, and fortifies that argument at every step with facts and positions, which it will be difficult to disprove or shake. He understands the subject, and handles it like a master. Let those who believe the Secretary to be an Executive officer, as the chiefs of the other departments are, and as the others are, responsible to the President—or that the President is in any way responsible to the nation for the manner in which an honest and faithful Secretary administers the finances—read his argument;—answer it if they can; and, if they cannot, frankly admit that the assumption of power over the "deposits" was unwarranted and dangerous.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

It will be seen by a reference to the proceedings of the senate, that the post office department has borrowed, and still owes, the sum of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars of certain banks, at an interest of six per cent. and has also overdrawn on several banks to the amount of fifty thousand dollars more—while millions of money were lying idle in the vaults of the bank of the United States. Some animated proceedings will, probably, grow out of these transactions of the postmaster general.

It will also be observed, that some of these moneys were borrowed in 1832. We have before us Mr. Barry's annual report of Nov. 30, 1832, which shewed a large increase of the amount of postages received, as compared with former years, with an estimate that these receipts would exceed the cost of transportations of the mails in the sum of $100,000 for the year ending June 30, 1833, taking in all the new mail lines ordered, and without estimating any thing for postages received on these new routs! —and he also said that the surplus available fund, on the 1st July, 1832, was $202,811 40; this sum being added to the 100,000 dollars excess just stated, makes $302,811; but the department is indebted 400,000 dollars, without any surplus available fund, or a DIFFERENCE *of seven hundred thousand dollars against the department in one year! We have not room to go into particulars now; but intend to pursue and present the figures as soon as we can give place to the annual report, &c.

*The whole amount of some errors claimed, as to the former way of keeping certain accounts, is only $91,658. Give this up, at once, and still there is 609,000 dollars against the department, as a difference!—Niles.

The U. S. Gazette says—"We hear a rumor that Mr. Taney will accept the vacant mission to Russia." No doubt of it. When did he ever refuse an office within his reach? We hope that he will get this, and we wish he were even now under sailing orders. Through him and the Kitchen crew, working upon the passions of a vindictive old man, an evil is about to be brought upon this country, in the derangement of the currency, and consequent difficulty and loss to all classes—which neither he nor they will ever be able to atone for. Let him go, and hear the distresses of his fellow citizens from afar off, whilst he tells over and pockets his nine thousand dollars.—Balt. Pat.

Modern Democracy—what is it? Every thing by turns, and nothing long. The latest definition we have seen is comprized in the following paragraph, from what the Albany Argus would call a sound (and the N. Y. Standard a very sound) authority:

From the Lycoming (Pa.) Chronicle.

"A few papers, professing to be democratic, are still endeavoring to throw fire brands into the party, on the question of a National Convention.—We regard this question as settled; and we think these papers should either acquiesce in the decision of the Convention, or abandon their pretensions to democracy."

Democracy in a public journal, therefore, consists in its having no opinion of its own: in other words, in its being destitute of principle of any sort.—Nat. Intel.

If the two Houses of Congress have any desire to know what work is cut out for them by the lower cabinet, we are enabled to place it before them in the most compendious form, as here followeth:

"The New York Standard proposes that Con- " gress should cut matters short by enforcing the " previous question, stop the talking, pass the ap- " propriation bills, turn the bank over to the com- " mittee of ways and means, and go home. Let " the committee be empowered to make a thorough " investigation, which they can do before the next " session; and then the fate of the bank can be set- " tled definitively. The long speeches, certainly, " signify nothing. Not a single opinion will be " changed by it, for the mind of every man in " Congress is made up."

This paragraph is from "the Pennsylvanian," the journal which Mr. Bennett was recently ejected from for non conformity to orders from head quarters, and is therefore from unquestionable authority. Congress will please, therefore, to understand their duty, the line of which is thus plainly chalked out for them. The Senate, to be sure, recognizes no such question in its practice as the previous question. That, however, is but a slight impediment. As for the other house, doubtless, if Mr. Cambreleng were to renew his motion for the previous question, it would be more than the members dare, after the above admonition, to put their say in the way of it.—Nat. Intel., Jan. 13.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Jour. of Com.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.

There is a report to day that Mr. Taney will be nominated as Minister to England, forthwith, and Mr. Speaker Stevenson as Secretary of the Treasury. The report is the more credited, as it is well understood that Mr. Taney's appointment as Secretary of the Treasury would not receive the assent of the Senate.

Mr. Binney continued to day his powerful and luminous speech on the Deposit question, and will resume the subject to morrow.

It is well known that Mr. Webster has been engaged in preparing a report upon the Removal of the Deposits, and the general subject of the Bank and the currency.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

January 8.—In the House of Representatives, Messrs. Walker, Robinson, Stokes, Patterson, and Banks, presented petitions for a navigable feeder to intersect the Pennsylvania canal near the mouth of the Kiskeminitas.

January 9.—In the Senate, the bill from the House of Representatives relating to registers and register's courts, the bill regulating weights and measures, and the bill for the incorporation of the Harmony bridge company, passed a first reading, the bill for rechartering the Pittsburgh bank being on a first reading, a number of amendments were made, and a considerable discussion took place respecting them.

Important Rumors.—The city has yesterday and to day been full of rumors, both from the federal and state capitals, of high importance. It being very well ascertained that Mr. Taney could not pass the Senate as Secretary of the Treasury, it is said that that gentleman would rather be excused from running the ordeal of a nomination. New cabinet arrangements are therefore necessary.—The rumor, yesterday, was, that Mr. Butler, the new Attorney General, would be transferred to the Treasury Department, and that Mr. Taney was to be provided for in some other way. Letters to day, however, speak of another, and quite an unexpected arrangement, viz: that Mr. Speaker Stevenson gives up the promised mission to England, and goes into the Treasury, while Mr. Taney is to be sent to the Court of St. James.

It is also rumored, that the voice of public opinion, at the south, comes with such thundering peals around the palace and the capitol, that the Public Deposits are to be shortly restored. And this measure, it is said, will be pressed from Albany, in consequence of serious financial troubles in our own state. The cause is said to be this.

Large amounts of our Canal revenues have been loaned to the Party Safety Fund Banks. The beggarly account of the specie vaults, last year, alarmed the Legislature, and an act was passed, authorizing these loans to be recalled, and the redemption of the canal stocks, provided that the said stock could be purchased at a premium considerably reduced from the then current market value. Advertisements for the redemption of the stock were published; but it was not supposed that the Comptroller would be called upon to redeem any of the script, because of the high price in the market.

The derangement of the currency, and the shock given to public credit, by the President, however, has brought the canal stocks down to the point specified by the before mentioned act, and the holders of two millions are now said to be knocking at the State Treasury for its redemption. The Treasury cannot redeem it without calling upon the Party Banks. And if they do call, in the present emergency, why then ——.—N. York Com. Adv., Jan. 10.

OSGOOD, THE FORGER.

The evils that wait upon an undue thirst for gold, and the temptations which it excites, are strongly depicted in the case of Mr. Osgood, who was lately tried in New York, and sentenced to fourteen years imprisonment, at hard labor, in the Sing Sing penitentiary. He exhibits, moreover, a striking instance of the fact, so generally recognized in this republican country, that a man's merit or demerit depends upon himself, without regard to his connections. Those of Osgood are of the best kind. He is brother in law of the late De Witt Clinton, and citizen Genet, the first minister from France to America, under the Directory. Naturally too ambitious, yet variable in his passions, and forgetting the means for the end, he rejected all the barriers of prudence and reason, in the most important acts of his life. He commenced his career, by marrying his father's chamber maid; after which he fell into disrepute with his family and connections. Embarked in the profession of the law, he was soon found to be guilty of some suspicious practices in the business of the insolvent courts. These, however, were overlooked, because not palpable enough for conviction, nor sufficiently dangerous for alarm.

His last acts of crime, were the forgeries of Pension Certificates. These were accomplished in a most singular manner. Well acquainted with American history, he drew up fictitious papers relating to certain pensioners—described the battles in which they had been engaged, named the officers under whom he had served, and had every statement properly and officially attested. In doing this, he was sometimes reduced to the most desperate straits. He gave the seals of county courts, in distant parts of the country, and divers signatures, correctly, the possession of which, on his part, was deemed exceedingly mysterious. These certificates were forwarded to the proper department at Washington, and the pensions regularly paid, all of which flowed regularly into Osgood's hands. The signature of Richard Riker, of New York, had been attached to nearly all the certificates, and this had been so effectually done by the forger, that at last, when the correctness of the name was disputed, he went himself to the office of Mr. Riker, to ask the clerk to swear that the writing was Mr. R's. It was some time before that gentleman could decide that the signature was not his own, so completely had it been forged. It was, however, deemed a counterfeit; and suspicion being aroused, information was sent to Washington, the archives were searched, and a mass of papers was forwarded to the District Attorney at New York, every one of which proved to be a forgery, from Osgood's hands.

His arrest, trial, and sentence to fourteen years' imprisonment, are well known. He is now at the Sing Sing penitentiary, employed in tailoring. Being rather refractory, he has been flogged twice. It is melancholy to contemplate such a fate, but it is the true consequence of such a course, and illustrates the direful evils of an overweening passion for money; a passion which, when reasonable and liberal, is praiseworthy; but when grasping and sordid, is, in every sense, contemptible.—Phil. Intel.

No nomination of a Secretary of the Treasury has yet been made to the Senate by the President, although that body has been about a month and a half in session, and the President has had no less than three (viz: M'Lane, Duane, and Taney,) since the last adjournment of Congress!—Chambersburg Repository, Jan. 14.

NORFOLK, Jan. 8.—Melancholy Occurrence.—Mr. S. H. Miller, lately a Lieutenant in the Army, came up from Old Point Comfort, last week, and took lodgings at the Exchange Hotel, where he remained until Saturday evening, when he paid his bill and sent his trunk aboard a packet bound to New York. It was the opinion of those who saw him that he was in a state of mental alienation. On the same night, Saturday, about ten o'clock, he called in at Mr. Walters' Virginia and Carolina Hotel, and stopped a few minutes in the public room, during which he took a drink at the bar, and then went out. He returned, however, soon after, and then asked for a bed, to which he retired about 11 o'clock. In an hour after, as the servant attending in the public room believes, he came down stairs, with his cloak wrapped round him, but without any other covering but his under garments, hat, and boots, and went out at the front door. The servant begged him not to go out, as it was snowing, and the night was cold and stormy; and even followed him out into the street to prevail on him to come back and go to bed: but he made no reply, and, to get rid of his importunities, ran off and left him. On hearing of the circumstance, next morning, Mr. Walters made diligent enquiry to ascertain what had become of the unfortunate man, but no trace of him has been discovered since he left the hotel, on Saturday night, and the only inference that remains to be drawn is, that he has fallen or thrown himself into the river and been drowned. His coat, vest, and pantaloons, which he left behind him when he sallied out from the hotel, are in the care of Mr. Walters.

Postscript.—At a late hour, last night, a gentleman called in to confirm what was before only conjecture: the body of the unfortunate Miller was found last evening, about 5 o'clock, by some boys who were skating, lying, partly covered by the ice, among the sedges, in the cove, back of Bermuda street, clad, or rather unclad, as when he left Mr. Walters' hotel, on Saturday night, with the exception of his cloak. A person in the neighborhood states that he distinctly heard, about 1 o'clock, on Sunday morning, the exclamation of "Lord have mercy on me!" uttered in a loud voice, in the direction of the spot where the body was found.—One side of the face was bruised and the ear much swollen.

It can hardly be supposed, however, that he met his death by violence; the greater probability is, that in wandering about in the darkness of his mind, as well as that of the night, he plunged unconsciously into the creek, and got benumbed and overcome by the cold before he could extricate himself.—Norfolk Herald.

Toast and Water.—An infusion of toasted bread in water, is one of the most salutary drinks that can be taken by the sick and valetudinary.—Dr. Hancock gives his experience in its favor as follows: He cut a large thin slice of bread, toasted it carefully and thoroughly, without burning; put it, hot from the fire, in a pint of cold water; allowing it to stand a while, and then set it on the fire till it was as hot as tea is generally drank. He found that five or six cups of this water, with or without sugar, were more refreshing and sooner took off any fatigue or uneasiness, than any strong wine, strong ale, small beer, warmed coffee or tea, (for he had tried them all,) or any other liquor that he knew of.

It is stated in a southern paper that about five hundred artillerists, of the United States' Army, under the command of Maj. Heilman, passed thro' Milledgeville, on the 24th of December. A part of them, we are informed, are destined for Fort Mitchell, a part for Mobile, and a part for the Choctaw country.

A correspondent of the Alexandria Gazette proposes that the President should be authorized to give the Lion which he has received, and does not know what to do with, to Col. Crockett! He says that the man who has whipped his weight in wild cats can certainly manage a lion!

The house contains nearly 200 apartments, most of which have fire places; and has a private entrance, leading to thirty suits of rooms, expressly arranged for the accommodation of families—has also seventy single lodging rooms. FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Franklin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjuating and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and effieacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.
